Enjoy a maintenance-free garden with artificial greenery

Artificial plants and flowers can now compete with natural ones on multiple levels, thanks to more realistic finishes. In a fast-paced daily life, they have become the perfect solution for surrounding yourself with greenery that remains beautiful without any effort. More than just a practical choice, they add a true touch of style that seamlessly fits into our modern lifestyles.

Truly designed for outdoor use

It's a common misconception that outdoor artificial plants and flowers are the same as those made for indoor use. That's why it's always recommended to get informed before making a choice.

Artificial plants designed for outdoor spaces are made from durable materials and treated to withstand the elements. They have UV protection to prevent fading from sun exposure, and some even come with a warranty. In other words, these plants are built to stay beautiful and intact despite wind, rain, temperature changes, and sunlight.

Undeniable advantages

Artificial plants have become a must-have over the years due to their numerous benefits.

Outdoor artificial plants and flowers can be installed regardless of light conditions. Even in the shade, our planters will stay in bloom all summer long, we promise!

No watering is necessary. This saves you valuable time for what is truly important! This advantage also allows you to arrange lovely window boxes under your windows without worrying about regular watering being a chore.

Going on vacation? Not a problem! You won't even have to ask your neighbors to water your palm tree while you're away; it'll look as good as it did on the first day.

No maintenance required. You know those geranium flowers that wilt, fall off, and stick to the porch? With artificial plants, that's a thing of the past!

Our outdoor artificial flowers and plants are made to withstand fading from sun exposure. Some products even come with a warranty. Make sure to ask before purchasing!

With artificial plants, you don't have to wait until the end of May to bring out your planters! Our flowers and plants are frost-resistant!

Finally, artificial flowers and plants always look their best, and your planters are filled with blooms from the start of the season to the end!

These plants are meant to enhance outdoor settings all year-round, combining realism, attractiveness, longevity, and ease of maintenance.

Myths & realities about artificial plants

1

No, high-quality artificial flowers and plants do not look 'plastic'. When buying, pay particular attention to the texture of the trunk, the features of the leaves (front and back), the existence of metal stems for correct handling, and the color variations; all of these are reliable quality indications.

2

They withstand the weather. All outdoor flowers and plants are made from more durable materials, and all store-assembled floor planters have a rock base to keep them securely in place during heavy winds.

3

Yes, artificial potted plants and planters are more expensive to purchase, but they become a cost-effective solution when you consider the long-term maintenance (fertilizing, repotting, winter protection, etc.), as well as the cost of replacing natural plants, which are often subject to seasonal changes and pests.

Prevent discoloration

To ensure the longevity of outdoor artificial flowers and plants, it is recommended to apply a UV protector spray once a month during the summer season, or more frequently depending on the level of sunlight they are exposed to. This will help preserve their colors and protect them from the sun's effects.

Beyond that, simple cleaning is enough: each spring, just use soapy water and a soft cloth to remove dust accumulation and restore the original shine of the artificial plants.
